Barnardos has provided a service to adopted people and to birth and adoptive families since 1977. This service has recently been extended to include a therapeutic service to adults who were incorrectly registered at birth and to their families.

The service is aware of the particular need for privacy and sensitivity in our response to this client group.

The service is also available generally to adults who have been impacted by adoption and who are referred to Barnardos by TUSLA.

Barnardos Post Adoption Service is funded by TUSLA the Child and Family Agency.

Testimonials

“ it’s good to be able to say things out in the open – it feels like there are a billion and one thoughts going round my head. ”

– Teresa, who recently discovered that her birth was incorrectly registered

“ I really want to thank you for the support, it is invaluable at the moment and means everything to me. ”

– John, an incorrectly registered adult.

“ Sometimes I think that people I talk to don’t fully understand what it’s like to have to meet your son after all these years – so it’s good to be able to use this time to explore it a bit more. ”

– Mary, a birth mother

“ I found the session immensely useful – the outpouring of emotion was a surprise but a great release for me. I received great support and left Barnardos feeling hugely better than when I arrived. ”

– Michael, who had a complex outcome to his search for birth family
