The AAI recently won 'highly commended document' at the NALA Plain English Awards held at the Law Library in Blackhall Place, Dublin 7.

The award was specifically for a Glossary-of-Terms published on our website to help users navigate through some of the jargon that surrounds adoption in Ireland.

More importantly, the award symbolises the AAI's commitment to Plain English across the board, from our general publications to our day-to-day interaction with the public.

It is the AAI's ongoing responsibility to simplify access, especially for members of the public, to our various legislative roles and functions.
